

DEMAND INCREASES FOR CHAFING DISHES

Appetizing Recipes Published Daily Are Irresistible to Nonpossessors.

Such appetizing ideas and such numbers of them are coming to The Times in the chafing dish contest that the possession of a chafing dish becomes more and more desirable for everyone who enjoys living.

There are already evidences that women who have never enjoyed the luxury of a chafing dish have begun to realize from reading the recipes already published that to own one is to add vastly to the attractions of a home, and that these women are getting favorable replies from their friends to submit.

As there is no limit to the number of recipes which may be sent in by any one woman, up to March 28, several have been received in this morning's mail from women who had previously submitted ideas.

Among those received are the following:

MEXICAN RAREBIT.

Three eggs, 1/2 can dried beef, 1/4 pound cheese, 1 small cup tomatoes, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 heaping teaspoon chili powder, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, pinch of salt, put the butter into the chafing dish, add chili powder and salt; stir thoroughly for a few minutes, then add tomatoes; cover and let cook until done; pick the beef fine, grate the cheese, heat the eggs well; add cheese and beef, stir while and add eggs; stir rapidly till smooth; serve on toasted crackers at once.

WELSH RAREBIT.

One pound grated cheese, 1/2 glass cream or sweet milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, a pinch of red pepper, a dash of salt, and 1 teaspoon dry mustard; into the chafing dish put a few small lumps of butter, after the butter is melted add cheese and milk alternately; stir constantly until the mixture is quite smooth; to this add the eggs well beaten into which has been stirred the Worcestershire sauce, pepper, mustard, and salt; pour over toast or crackers and serve at once.

MRS. L. BUTLER.

230 New Jersey avenue northwest.

LITTLE PIGS IN BLANKETS.

Season oysters with pepper and salt, wrap each in a very thin slice of bacon and fasten with a wooden toothpick. Have the chafing dish very hot and cook the pigs long enough to crisp the bacon, taking care not to let them burn. Serve hot on small pieces of toast. Garnish with parsley.

MRS. BENJAMIN S. GOODRICH.

1221 Harvard street.

WELSH RAREBIT.

Put into the double of a chafing dish, a tablespoonful of butter, a slice of onion, and a half-pound of soft cheese, grated. Cover, and while they are melting mix in a saucepan a tablespoonful of dry mustard, a pinch of cayenne pepper, and a tablespoonful of celery salt. In another saucepan or skillet, melt a tablespoonful of butter, add a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce. When the cheese is smoothly melted, put in the first seasonings and two eggs, whipped very light. Take a little of the first mixture and mix with the eggs before turning these in. Stir all the time for about three minutes, add the Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice, and serve at once on toast.

The best rarebit I ever ate and one which does not grow stringy even when cool.

PIERRE LUDLOW.

712 20th St. N. W.

LOBSTER A LA NEWBURG.

Two pounds lobster, 1/2 cup butter, slight grating nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, 1 tablespoon sherry, 1 tablespoon brandy, 1/3 cup thin cream, 2 egg yolks.

Remove the lobster meat from shell and cut in slices. Melt butter, add lobster and cook three minutes. Add salt, cayenne, nutmeg, sherry and brandy; cook one minute, then add cream and yolks of eggs slightly beaten, and stir until thickened. Serve with toast.

EGGS A LA GOLDEN ROD.

One tablespoon butter, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 saltspoon pepper, 3 saltspoon parsley, chafing dish, and when bubbling add the flour, salt, pepper, and gradually the milk. Add the whites of the eggs chopped fine. When hot pour over the toast. Rub the yolks through a strainer over all and garnish with parsley.

ANNA LEE KINSLOW.

1343 East Capitol Street.

SCOTCH WOODCOCK.

4 eggs, 1/2 cup of tomato, 1 cup of celery (chopped), 1 tablespoon butter, 1 saltspoon salt, 1 saltspoon pepper.

Cook tomatoes and butter, add celery, seasoning, then the eggs (unbeaten). Serve on wafers.

MRS. J. B. LAMKIN.

1343 East Capitol Street.

ENGLISH MONKEY.

1 cup of stale bread crumbs, 1 dash cayenne pepper, 1/2 cup soft cheese, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, Dash of celery salt.

Cook crumbs in milk; melt butter, add cheese, and, when dissolved, the other ingredients. Cook two minutes. Serve on wafers.

MRS. J. B. LAMKIN.

1343 East Capitol Street.

SHRIMP WIGGLE.

4 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon pepper, 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup canned peas, 1 can shrimp.

Melt butter, add flour and seasonings, then milk. When sauce thickens add shrimp and peas. Serve on toast.

WOMAN'S INQUIRY COLUMN

Letters to The Washington Times Woman's Inquiry Column are invited. Names and addresses must be affixed to questions sent by mail, not for publication, but simply as an evidence of good faith. Questions which are not of general interest will be answered by mail, if accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope; rush inquiries by telephone. Call Main 5395.

The department will endeavor to answer to the best of its ability, questions not of technical nature, or involving professional judgment. It must also decline to answer questions which concern the names of proprietary articles, or the decision of bats.

A. T. Patrick Case.

Reader—The records on file in the district attorney's office in New York show that William Marsh Rice was murdered September 21, 1909. Albert T. Patrick was convicted of the murder on March 25, 1912, before Recorder Goff in the court of general sessions. Sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on December 29, 1916, by Governor Higgins.

Wash Ribbons.

Anxious—There is a wash ribbon sold for lingerie, but if you have the time to do so it is far better for the appearance of the whole garment to take the ribbons out before washing, wash them separately in tepid water, with a good pure white soap, then roll them smoothly around a tumbler to dry.

George Washington.

F. W. R.—George Washington was born near Bridge Creek, Westmoreland county, Va., February 22, 1732. He died at Mt. Vernon of pneumonia on December 14, 1799.

Loyal Legion.

Loyal Legion—You are evidently misinformed in regard to a reunion of the society to be held here in October. At local headquarters it is said that no dates have been arranged for a reunion at that time.

Feather Stitching.

B. Y.—Yes, feather stitching may be done on a lingerie waist. Do not make the work sprawly, but close and compact, so that it will give a rich appearance. You will get better results by using embroidery cotton of a fine quality. Thread is too closely twisted.

WOMEN OF BERLIN LEADERS IN THOUGHT

Better Educated, Says Writer, Than Her American Sisters.

Berlin is alive with women's clubs, but they are not like the New York clubs. They are clubs with a working purpose. If they have a lecture, it is on some important live question, by some authority who is able to instruct them. They do not bother with amateur programs. It is customary for the club to have its club home—a suite of rooms, large and elegant or small and modest, as the case may be. But it is always comfortable, and there is always a reading room, which is open in the evening and a good library. Some of these club homes have fine auditoriums for meetings, and nearly all of them restaurants, but the library is never lacking.

I believe more women are working along advanced lines of thought and action, both for their sex and for society at large, in Germany than in America. The life of the German woman is not so frothy as that of the American woman. The class of women who fritter their lives away in clothes and amusements is very much smaller than in America. And even the women who do this are very much better educated than the American women who live the same sort of life. There is not an educated woman in Germany, not one, who cannot speak both English and French fluently, correctly. I heard Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman lecture in English, and the women discussed it in English just as freely and easily as Americans could have done. They are equally thorough in everything. The old thoroughfares of the German housewife take in everything they do. The housewife has never been dropped direct from oven to table. There is not a German woman engaged in public work, no matter how advanced, who is not also an accomplished housewife.—Mrs. Clara Neyman, in New York Tribune.

PALATABLE RECIPE FOR A FRICASSEE

Fricassee or white stew may be made with chicken, or sweetbreads. Cut up a chicken into joints, lay them in a saucepan, and add two cups of cold water. Allow to remain for ten minutes.

Cut up a small carrot, an onion, and a white celery. Add these to the contents of the saucepan, with a sprig of parsley, a few pickled onions, and a blade of mace. Simmer till the chicken is tender. Lift out the pieces and strain the gravy. Put two tablespoonsful of flour into a saucepan, gradually add a half cupful of cream and a cup and a half of the strained stock, and stir till it boils. Season with cayenne and salt. Lay in the chicken to heat through. Dish up and garnish with fried bread.

Two Chafing Dishes Given This Week For Best Recipes by Women Readers.

The two women submitting the best recipes for tasty dishes capable of being prepared in a chafing dish will be awarded prizes for the week of handsome nickel-plated chafing dishes of the very best quality and the latest design. There is no limit to the number of recipes that may be sent in by any one person.

The various recipes submitted will be passed upon at the close of the week's contest by M. Ernest De Shays, chef at Demone's, and the decision as to the two best will be published in THE WASHINGTON TIMES on Sunday, March 28.

All recipes received up to 3 o'clock Friday, in this contest, will be considered in awarding the prizes.

Think up your very best chafing dish recipes, and send them in. No men, nor any employee, or relative of an employee, of this paper will be allowed to participate in this contest.

Recipes must be written on one side of the paper only.

ALL RECIPES SHOULD BE ADDRESSED TO

The Chafing Dish Editor,
THE WASHINGTON TIMES.

PRICES OF PRODUCE DOUBTFUL FOR WEEK

Packers May Be Able to Force Egg Quotations Down—Live Stock Wavering.

There is considerable doubt as to what will be the status between supply and demand this week in the produce market, and several changes may be recorded in prices.

Eggs came first on the uncertain list. Eighteen cents was the average price last week, but there is no certain indication of it continuing. An effort is being made by packers to force the quotation down another cent or two and almost concentrated effort is looked for along this line. Eggs were stored at 16 cents in the latter part of March a year ago, and unless a reduction in the present quotation is made soon, it is practically assured that the prices on cold storage goods will be considerably higher next fall than last.

Next to eggs, live stock is a subject for doubtful consideration. This is especially true with respect to veal calves. Should warmer weather prevail, it is expected that the price will go down, while that on hogs, in all probability, will advance. There was very little demand for spring lambs last week. Cheese is expected to record an advance in price. Goods are scarce at interior points and there is no prospect of supply immediately increasing. Butter is looked for to remain at last week's prices. Receipts have been liberal, but have also been readily absorbed, and this situation promises to remain in effect for another seven days at least.

PLANTS IN HOUSE ARE KEPT MOIST

One successful grower of plants in a heated house has hit upon a method of supplying moisture that he considers does away with much of the difficulty of raising plants indoors.

Instead of standing his pots in jardinières or on wire stands, he has a narrow trough, three inches deep and of a size to fit each window. This is filled with coarse sand, which is kept constantly moist.
